Discovery Cautious Fund

Quarterly update—ending 31st July 2026

Investment objective

The objective of the Fund is to provide returns through a combination of capital growth and income over a market cycle (5 years). The fund will primarily gain exposure indirectly via eligible collective investment schemes and other collective investment vehicles (for example, investment companies, exchange traded funds) and may also invest directly in eligible assets (excluding property and commodities). Derivatives will be used only for the purpose of Efficient Portfolio Management.

Fund manager

James Kempster

James has over 20 years experience building and managing multi-asset investment portfolios. Beginning his career at Canada Life, he has more recently worked with financial advice firms to create managed portfolio solutions for end clients.

Indicative risk rating

Fund managers' commentary

Markets remained resilient over the quarter despite geopolitical concerns and increasing debate around the winners and losers of the artificial intelligence theme. With economic signals sending mixed messages, central banks remained cautious, leaving investors uncertain about the future path of interest rates.

Equity markets delivered positive returns overall, although leadership shifted as the quarter progressed. US equities initially benefited from continued enthusiasm for artificial intelligence, while returns in other regions improved later in the quarter as investors broadened their focus beyond a relatively narrow group of technology companies. Fixed income markets experienced a more challenging period as rising government bond yields weighed on returns, although the diversified nature of the portfolio helped mitigate the impact.
