The investment objective of the Fund is to provide capital growth over the medium to long term. The Fund will aim to meet its objectives by employing two primary investment techniques:

1. True diversification which may include exposure to equities, fixed income, commodities, real estate and infrastructure in different jurisdictions throughout the world, primarily using Exchange Traded Funds.
2. Formula-based trend following.

Monthly Commentary (November 2025)

Despite c.80% of companies in the S&P beating consensus, and solid numbers from tech and the now highly followed bellwether that is Nvidia, concerns about valuation weighed on equity markets in the month.

For those who follow me on social media, I posted a very good article in the month about a "$610bn circular financing fraud" in big tech and AI, where the author pointed out that "...the current situation bears structural similarities to three major accounting frauds: Enron (2001), WorldCom (2002), and Lucent Technologies (2000)."

Given these concerns, there has been a clear rotation from equity investors, with long-unloved sectors such as healthcare, defence and consumer staples seeing significant flows for the first time in a while.

The only trade our signals gave us in the month was to add UK real estate back into the mix. This left the fund fully invested in all of our silos for the first time since July 2024. Given a slower equity market in the month, this positioning resulted in the fund giving up 0.6%, taking our year to date performance to 10.3%.

Should there be a "Santa rally" into the year end, as can often be the case, it will be helpful to be fully invested and hopefully end the year well. As

Key Risks

- Counterparty risk: The Fund can conclude various transactions with contractual partners. If a contractual partner becomes insolvent, it can no longer or can only partly settle unpaid debts owed to the Fund.

— Market Risk: External factors can cause an entire asset class to decline in value which would result in a decrease in the value of investments. The Fund aims to mitigate this risk by investing in all major asset classes in many geographic regions and owning assets which are often negatively correlated.

— Concentration Risk: The Fund seeks to minimise concentration risk by owning
- a wide selection of Exchange Traded Funds which themselves own many hundreds of underlying assets.

— Liquidity Risk: adverse market conditions may affect the ability to sell certain assets when necessary. The Fund invests nearly exclusively in large, liquid ETFs so liquidity risk should be significantly lower than in a more conventional actively managed fund investing in single assets.
